

This explosive triggered avalanche occurred on the South Face of Lone Mountain in the Otter Slide above Lenin. Most slides breaking deep in the snowpack have occurred on north aspects and this was the first one so far on a south aspect. The ski patrol did not think it could have been triggered by a skier but that's a chance they can't take. Photo: Big Sky Ski Patrol

Advisory Region
Northern Madison

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Advisory for Sat Dec 7, 2013GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Sun Dec 8, 2013

Northern Madison, 2013-12-07